Gossard's 'White Eyes Pink Dragon' (Gossard 2006)

From the Editor's Desk

By Kathy Jentz, Region 3 Newsletter Editor

With this issue of Fanfare, I am announcing a new Region 3 Digital Photo Contest. (This is based loosely on how Region 15 has run their contest.) I hope many of you participate and wish you all luck!

Region 3 Digital Photo Contest Categories:

1. Images of Region 3 daylilies (may be single blooms, multiple blooms, or clumps registered by Region 3 hybridizers.) Companion plants, garden art, etc. may be included in the background, but the dominant image must be a daylily registered by a Region 3 hybridizer.
2. Images of Region 3 members, preferably candid shots of members engaged in daylily activities.
3. Landscapes featuring Region 3 gardens. A significant part of the landscape must include daylilies.
4. Artistic Shots. This may include close-ups of flowers, garden vignettes, insects, birds, etc. Photos featuring daylilies, a part of a daylily, or a daylily motif will have preference over images without any part of a daylily if the photos are otherwise equal in quality.
5. Daylilies from a Different Point of View features manipulated images created by combining elements from more than one image or by obvious changes in color, form, shape, or any combination thereof to create a unique final photo. All original images used/combined must have been taken by the final image creator. Daylilies or Region 3 members must be dominant in the final image, with preference given to Region 3-hybridized daylilies.
6. Youth Contest. This includes any submissions in all of the above categories from those under 21 years of age.

The deadline for the 2023 Region 3 Digital Photo Contest is August 1, 2023. To submit your entries, please post them to:

<https://www.dropbox.com/scl/fo/ymzi980y7hjvmxf5wnnat/h?dl=0&rlkey=0gr1h3fxqow8w0856lc3c4dys>

For each photo file you upload, please note in the file information which the category you are entering, your name and email, as well as including the details of the photo (flower name, location, etc.).

I am looking for volunteers to assist with the photo judging. Ideally, we'd have 3 judges per category (in case we need an odd number to break any tie-decisions). If you can assist with this task please contact me.

We will announce our winners at the Lilyhemmer meeting this fall and publish them in our Fall/Winter edition of Fanfare.

Our region has so many talented hybridizers, gardeners, and photographers, I know there will be a wealth of entries and cannot wait to see all the fabulous submissions!

As always, I welcome your submissions and ideas for this publication. This is YOUR Region and your input is very much valued. You can reach me at kathyjentz@gmail.com.

Regional President Report

By Jennifer Reed, Region 3 President

Hello all you daylily lovers!

I can't wait to see many of you for our summer regional meeting. (See full details on page 5–10 of this issue.)

We have been hard at work getting our daylily gardens in tip-top shape. It has been an unusual fall and winter with some pretty nasty cold snaps, and some unusually warm spring time weather too, which caused quite a few deaths in the gardens. We have been scrambling to get rid of the dead stuff and put in some new amazing plants.

We hope you all will be able to join us for the first summer regional in many years! We plan on making this year's meeting a much more social event to allow us just to enjoy all of the gardens that we love so much in our own time.

If the prices of the hotels are a little steep for you, phone a friend and split the cost.

Our morning flower hunt and pollination for breeding has just started. It's like Christmas every day seeing the new things that pop up. I hope to see y'all soon.

Region 3 Summer Meeting 2023: Gardens Galore (No Buses)

By Rikki Sterrett, Craddocksville, VA

Come see the gardens of Tidewater, Virginia! The summer regional meeting will be on Saturday, June 24 and Sunday, June 25 with open gardens June 22-26. We are offering the option of numerous gardens for your viewing pleasure. Each is unique, all are worth your consideration to visit. This will be a self-conducted tour and car-pooling is strongly encouraged. Look on the ADS website under Get Involved/Events/Region 3 for more information and the registration form (on page 9 of this issue). Cost of registration is $100.

Because of a venue change, our schedule has been adjusted. Saturday night's buffet dinner will be at Jennifer Reed's house at 2804 West Point Ct, Virginia Beach VA 23452. Breakfast and lunch on Sunday are on your own. The dinner and auction on Sunday night will be at the Delta Hotels by Marriott Chesapeake Norfolk on 725 Woodlake Drive, Chesapeake, VA 23320, 757-523-1500. A block of rooms has been reserved at the Delta Hotel by Marriott at $199 per night. To access this special rate, use the following link to make your reservation: <https://www.marriott.com/event-reservations/reservation-link.mi?id=1678478658261&key=GRP&app=resvlink>. The reduced rate is not available through the reservations desk.

There are several hotels within walking distance. The link to hotels in the Tidewater area is: <https://www.HotelPlanner.com/EventPage7157611>. Those within walking distance of the Delta Marriott include Holiday Inn Express Chesapeake-Norfolk (721 Conference Center Drive), The Extended Stay America (809 Greenbrier Circle), Wingate Chesapeake (917 Greenbrier Circle), and Staybridge Suites Chesapeake (709 Woodlake Drive).

Registration check-in will be at the Delta Marriott hotel starting Friday 5:00 to 9:00pm and from 8:00am until 12:00 noon on Saturday. After 2:00pm, registration materials will be available at Jenn Reed's garden, where the Saturday evening dinner will be held. The registration fee includes dinners on Saturday night and Sunday Night, live and silent daylily auctions, and time to spend with great friends. Daylily sales will also be available in some gardens.

Fifteen gardens will be open June 22-26—during certain times. Plan to carpool with your favorite people and spend as much time as you like at each garden. Visit gardens while travelling to and from the meeting as well as on Monday, June 26. A Google interactive map of the gardens will be provided to those who register for the meeting. Many of the gardens will be open before or after the meeting.

Garden Judges Workshops

Taught by Jim Murphy and Kris Bender

Studying for and qualifying as a garden judge is an opportunity to gain critical insight in the evaluation of daylily cultivars and provides a deeper appreciation of both new and older daylilies. Only garden judges can vote for the numerous AHS cultivar awards, thereby providing an essential service to AHS. Sign up on the registration form. The cost is $5.00 for each class. The manual, Judging Daylilies--Garden by Scott Elliott, is required for either or both classes. Print a copy of the PDF from the AHS Membership Portal (newer edition) or purchase a copy from Amazon at <https://www.amazon.com/JudgingDayliliesGardenScottElliott/dp/1973573113>.

Garden Judges 1 will be offered on Saturday afternoon, June 24, from 1:00 to 3:30pm (2.5 hours), location to be determined. Garden Judges 2 will be offered on Sunday morning, June 25, at Stacy Kucharczk Garden from 9:00 to 11:00am. Classes will be cancelled if registration numbers are insufficient. The reason for the separation of the two classes by a day is so that a person can take both and qualify as a garden judge in one weekend.

Exhibition Judges Workshops

Clinic II would be offered if anyone wants it, but they must already be a student-in-training and pre-register by June 9. Clinics I and III are offered online in April and October or contact Kathleen Schloeder for other arrangements.

Featured Gardens

- Pinkham Gardens, Linda and Bill Pinkham
GPS address is 24389 Mouring Dr., Carrollton, VA 23314; cell: 757-334-3999; June 22-26, 9 AM-4 PM
This is a collector's garden, with the biggest collection being approximately 1,000 named daylily cultivars on the 3+ acre property; plus, about 10,000 seedlings on a property next door. The owners, horticulturists Linda & Bill Pinkham, have rarely met a plant they didn't like. Bill is the designer and Linda is the "head weeder."

The front entrance to the house challenges you to walk across the Japanese inspired pond filled with Koi. This area is planted with tropical-looking hardy plants and truly tropical plants that vacation outdoors here from May to October. There are many Japanese maples on site, as well as hydrangeas, perennials, conifers, no-spray roses, vines, and succulents. One of the newer gardens is a crevice garden of unusual miniatures.

There will be potted daylilies for sale on-site, but anyone interested in buying should visit Linda Pinkham at www.plantstep.com under Catalogs. An order should be emailed to her at least a week before the Regional. Within the website, click on catalogs at the top and scroll to Linda Pinkham.

massed with other perennials and have been chosen to provide bloom from May through October.

- Anne Urbi Garden

GPS address: 6047 Newport Ave., Norfolk, VA 23505; cell: 757-277-2321; June 23-26, 9 AM-4 PM

The Urbis removed every blade of grass and planted a perennial garden in their front yard under the guise of floodproofing. The garden's creation became the perfect outdoor design and construction project for a pandemic. The neighbors watched as truckloads of soil became rolling beds on higher ground where currently around 400 labeled daylily cultivars are woven amongst lots of unusual perennials and bulbs. Conifers, Japanese maples, and flowering shrubs with colorful foliage provide year-round interest, while updated walkways literally take the property to a new level. The garden is centrally located on the tour so come by anytime!

- Stacy Kucharck Garden

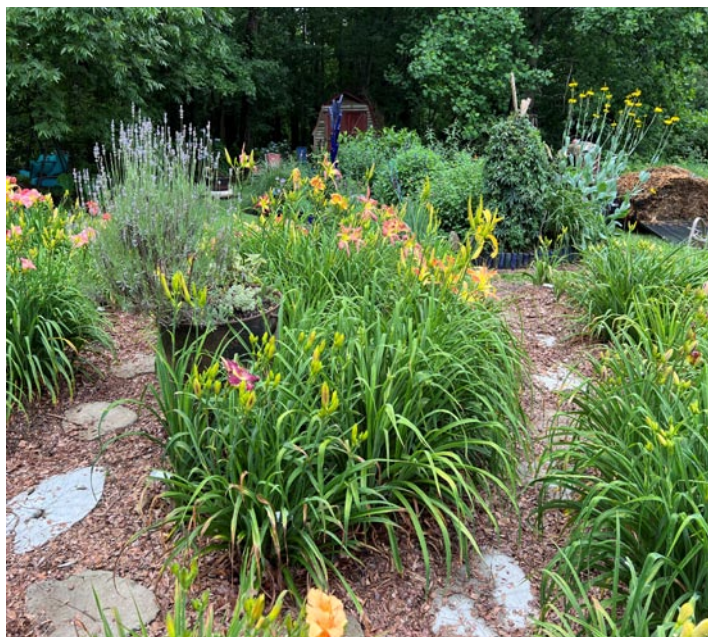

GPS address: 1533 Blue Ridge Rd., Chesapeake, VA 23322; cell: 757-944-1234 (text preferred); June 22-26, 9AM-6PM. Site of Garden Judges 2 workshop on Sunday, June 25, 9:00 AM to 11:00 AM (2-2.25 hours)

Over the last 14 years, several theme gardens have been created around their circa 1922 1.5-story bungalow. The daylily beds started small in 2014 and have expanded to include more than 500 named cultivars and includes a path made from elephant ear stepping stones that Dan and Stacy crafted. Four years ago, Stacy dabbed her first pollen and the seedling beds followed in 2020. This garden has been awarded the City of Chesapeake "Notable Yard" for the Hickory District in 2022, is a certified Wildlife Habitat, and is on the Pollinator Pathway. Dan and Stacy look forward to welcoming you to their garden; pick up a lunch to go from one of the nearby restaurants and come sit in one of the many outdoor seating areas and enjoy the blooms.

- Jen Reed Garden

GPS address: 2804 West Point Court, Virginia Beach, VA 23452; cell: 757-705-0553; June 23-26, 8 AM-4PM
On a one-acre lot in Virginia Beach, situated on a peninsula on the Lynnhaven River, there is an AHS display garden with over 1,000 named varieties as well as over 5,000 seedlings amongst assorted perennials. Meticulously labeled daylilies grow amongst the cannas, iris, and hibiscus. The gardens are submerged 1-2 times a year when a storm pushes the brackish water over the 470 feet of bulkhead, so each plant along the wall is chosen for its salt tolerance. It is a wonderful relaxing haven.

- Sterrett Gardens, Rich and Rikki Sterrett

GPS address: 12324 Island Neck Rd., Painter VA 23420; cell: 757-442-4606; June 23 and again on June 26, 9 AM-4 PM

Located on Virginia's Eastern Shore, this AHS display garden includes approximately two acres of mixed perennial borders planted in the English cottage garden style. Nearly one acre of daylilies is lined out for sales. Numerous Region 3 and nationally recognized hybridizers are represented in this collection of more than 1700 cultivars. The garden was started 1983. Both historical mainstays and newest introductions can be found in the gardens. Both Rich and Rikki are long-time garden judges. We suggest that attendees stop on the way to or from the Convention. There is a toll on the 19-mile Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel, and they accept E-Z Pass.

Bonus Open Gardens

GPS address: 5136 Brockie St., Virginia Beach, VA 23464; Cell: 757-479-2658; June 24-25, self-guided (front yard)

This urban quasi-naturalist's daylily beds were a deliberate choice to decrease the front lawn two years ago. These beds are also home to other native plants for pollinators. Minimal feeding, no pesticides, and several other natural ways are employed to manage everything in this urban yard. The "leftovers" bed between the sidewalk and the street are unlabeled. Squirrels and other varmints remove the labels when they feel like pranking humans. (I think the crows are in on it, too.)

- Lissa Cash Garden

GPS address: 111 Seabreeze Lane, Suffolk, VA 23435;
Cell: 757-724-2086; June 22-25, 9 AM-4 PM

Lissa Cash is a retired nurse and Master Gardener. Her garden started to eliminate a large lawn area and add some color to her side yard. It started as a few plants here, then a few more plants there. First it was five daylilies, then it was 20 and now it's more than 600. Her favorites are miniatures and doubles, daylilies with funny names and daylilies with music names. Mixed in are pieces of yard art, antique statues and a variety of other perennials including her favorite, Salvia.

GPS address: 503 W. Bear Swamp Rd., Hertford, NC 27944; Please call (cell: 262-333-7191; June 22-24, 9 AM-2PM (text or call)

The garden and farm of Bill and Pat Mansfield is located just south of Hertford, North Carolina. They have a display garden and a commercial daylily operation with a two-acre daylily field, growing 2,000 cultivars. They are open each day (except Sunday) from May 30 through June 11 and June 20 thru 30, from 9 to 1, and at other times by appointment only. Daylilies are available and will be dug while you wait. You can also pre-order by visiting their Facebook page, Mansfields Daylilies. To reach Pat, text or call (252) 333-7191.

- Debbie and Don Rhodes Garden

GPS address: 6631 Fosque Lane, Hayes, VA 23072; cell 804-824-1156; June 22-26; 10 AM-4 PM

They are situated on five acres where they grow daffodils, daylilies, and hydrangeas. They have over 500 varieties of daylilies with 200 lined out for sale that they can dig while you're here. Prices range from $10 to $30 and they accept cash or check. Donald enjoys hybridizing and invites you to stroll through his many seedlings.

BRADS Christmas Brunch and Gift Exchange

March 11th was our annual BRADS Spring Display Garden cleanup (pictured at left). Although the morning started out pretty chilly, we had a good number of members come out to get the work done. A special thank you to Kyle for delivering mulch.

BRADS participated in the Annual Roanoke Council of Garden Clubs Spring Plant Sale on May 13, 2023. Many club members donated perennials and daylilies from their gardens to be sold at the sale. There was more foot traffic than previous years and BRADS was able to take in almost $1,000.00 for the club. The sale was a great success and many members helped with the set up and the sale. Kyle Jones sharpened garden tools at $2.00 per tool (pictured at right).

Shirley Jarusek (President) and Julie Covington (Program Chair) collaborated on an article about Shirley's 30 year love affair with daylilies and how she was able to design and implement her ideas into a garden at her workplace for the public to enjoy. The Jane Morgan Harris Gardens at Richfield Living Salem was nationally recognized in the Winter Edition of The Daylily Journal. The gardens were recently awarded Historic Display Garden status by the American Daylily Society in June 2022. Shirley plans to expand the gardens over the next several years to reach no less than 100 named cultivars and hopes to hybridize and register Richfield's very own daylily. She received her copy of the magazine on Christmas Eve and said it was the best Christmas present she has ever had.

At the January and March club meetings, NVDS members learned more about miniature daylilies through two presentations. In January, Melodye Campbell, the ADS historian and archivist, gave a Zoom program that focused on the history of miniature daylilies and their hybridizers. In March, Janice Kennedy followed up with a presentation on the miniature daylilies in the collection at Meadowlark Botanical Gardens. Although miniature daylilies are about 2% of all registrations at the national level, miniatures represent 8% of their collection.

If you are interested in seeing miniature daylilies, Meadowlark's collection has all of the Stout and Lenington award winning miniatures, and one-third of all the Donn Fischer Memorial winners. NVDS's annual exhibition will be held in Meadowlark's visitors center on Saturday, July 1 and includes a walking tour and plant sale.

In April, TDS was fortunate enough to catch Curt Hanson on his way from his Crintonic Gardens in Gates Mills, OH, to visit his friend and fellow hybridizer Dan Hansen in Florida. He provided a very interesting presentation and highlighted some of his travels to South America and elsewhere. His interest in daylily forms is an extension of his background in both construction and fine arts. To see Curt's introductions, visit <http://www.crintonic.com/>.

We hope to see you soon at the 2023 AHS Summer Regional Meeting in Hampton Roads area, VA!

FUN FACT!

There are more microorganisms, which keep soil full of nutrients, in one teaspoon of soil than there are people on Earth.

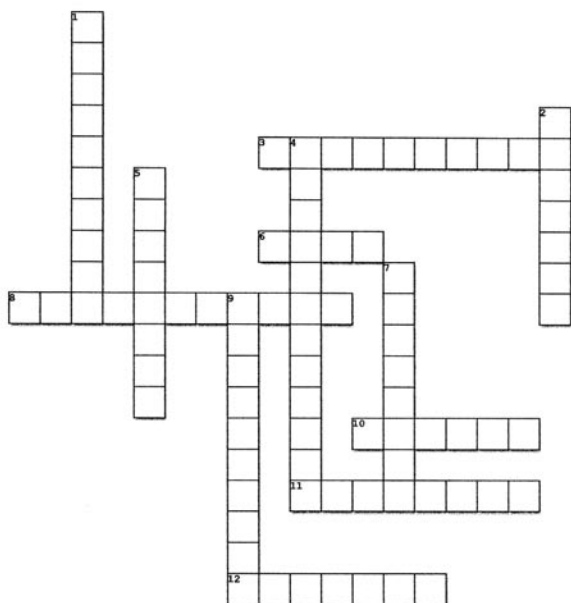

SPREAD THE WORD

Here are some things you can do to enlighten others about daylilies:

1. Invite visitors to your garden and visit other gardens.
2. Donate daylilies to be planted at schools, parks, playgrounds, or public gardens.
3. Donate books about daylilies to libraries.
4. Offer daylilies for sale.
5. Present a daylily program to a club, class, or group.
6. Exhibit daylilies at flower shows.
7. Volunteer to help at local, regional, and national daylily events.

Crossword Puzzle

Across:

3. self-replicating genetic structure of cells containing cellular DNA
6. it germinates to create a new plant
8. state in which viable seed begins to grow
10. dust-like yellow material at the end of a daylily's stamens
11. unregistered daylily raised from seed
12. daylily having 22 chromosomes

Down:

1. person who breeds daylilies
2. a plant that can contribute genetic material to create viable seeds is _____
4. scientific name of the daylily
5. combined word for 'cultivated variety'
7. daylily having 33 chromosomes
9. daylily having 44 chromosomes

See the answers on page 23.

DID YOU KNOW...

1. The brown center and the yellow petals of a sunflower are composed of thousands of individual flowers.
2. Studies have shown plants respond to vibrations, like the sound of your voice or music, which affects their growth.
3. Apples, pears, peaches, cherries, raspberries, and strawberries belong to the rose (rosacea) family.
4. You can change a hydrangea's color by altering the pH level of the soil.
5. Deer can jump eight feet high although they may need a running start.
6. Broccoli and cauliflower are the only vegetables that are also flowers.
7. Studies have shown that butterflies are more attracted to weeds like dandelions and clovers than flowers because of their smell.

GARDENING IS GOOD FOR YOU

Studies have shown that tending to plants can boost your mood. The time spent caring for plants helps the brain produce serotonin, a natural chemical that combats depression. Certain bacteria strains in soil can also aid in the production of serotonin.

Gardening lowers levels of cortisol, a hormone that regulates stress. It also increases your creativity. The physical activity of gardening breaks down stress and negative energy. It improves your mental focus and mindfulness. Just looking at nature can have relaxing and calming effects. Scientific facts show evidence that those who garden regularly have a 36% lower risk of dementia.

MAKE MINE MINIATURES! PART TWO

By Julie Covington, Roanoke, VA

[See part 1 of “Make Mine Minatures!” in the Fall 2022 edition of Fanfare.]

I first discovered and fell in love with the miniatures of Jim and Mary Netherton when visiting Region 5 (Georgia) on the 2015 National Tour, and subsequently in 2018, when speaking at the Region 5 summer meeting. Sadly, after Jim Netherton passed away in 2020, their Peace On Earth Gardens in Western Georgia closed, making their daylilies difficult to locate. If you have the opportunity to obtain any of their little ones, I urge you to take a chance on them. Jim’s ‘Tribute to the Mayor’ (16), a dormant 26" yellow with violet eye and 2.87" blooms, gives you a hint of its parentage, and ‘We Love Promise’ (18) is a dormant 26" yellow and orange bi-tone with a red eye and 2.75" blooms, is a favorite here. Mary was first in their family to hybridize miniatures, and her ‘Wayne and Coral’s Love’ (13) is a classic, award-winning miniature. It boasts 22" scapes and 2.5" blooms of orange with darker veining and eye. ‘Rhett My Boy’ (15) named after a grandchild, has 24" scapes with 2.75" of crimson with lighter sepals. It produces huge proliferations, which I’ve rooted for several friends. My plant of ‘Rhett My Boy’ came from daylily friend Janice Kennedy, who sent several huge proliferations a few years ago which amazingly grew into a full sized plant and bloomed the very next year. My favorite of Mary Netherton’s minis is ‘Tim’s Poetry’ (13), a 26" dormant with 2.5" blooms registered as “a frosted orange Miniature daylilies can grow happily in large containers or as front of the border plants. Here, miniature and small daylilies are featured in beds separate from their larger counterparts. No matter how you choose to grow them, 2023 would be a great year for you to try some miniature daylilies in your garden!

salmon with dark eye.” The color is indeed elusive, but totally enchanting. As I write this today, October 12, two rebloom scapes are still valiantly trying to bloom even after an earlier frost this week.

It’s always fun to “rediscover” some of the older miniatures that were hybridized long before this daylily form had caught the attention of mainstream daylily growers. ‘Little Peanut’ (E. Winniford 85) a SEV with 18" scapes and 2.5" light maroon with a yellow edge and darker eye is perfectly hardy here, as is ‘Little Brown Boy’ (Winniford 82), a miniature with dwarf foliage, 14" scapes and 2.5" blooms, a brown and tan bi-tone. Both have delightful tiny blooms, and any visitors who see them want them.

It wouldn’t be fair to omit Elizabeth Salter, who is the most prolific hybridizer of miniature daylilies, with 98 registered as E.H. Salter and 58 registered under her maiden name, Hudson. Currently, only one Liz Salter miniature, 'Border Dragon' grows here but is too new to evaluate. Several of her miniatures which grew here and thrived during the past 25 years were 'Jason Salter' (87); 'Mary Ethel Anderson' (95); 'Patchwork Puzzle' (90); and 'Dark Avenger' (88).

Steve Williams from Columbus, OH, has hybridized several fine small and miniature blooms. His 'Little Tutu' (17) is a dormant mini double, which always blooms double here. 2.5" blooms are lavender rose, with darker halo and veins on 25" scapes. Steve's 'Too Cute' (12) is a 32" mini with 2.37" rose and cream bicolor blooms, winning the Donn Fischer Medal for best miniature in 2021.

Dominique and Scott Elliott from GA have hybridized a number of miniatures. Dom's 'Wise Blood' (15) is a fine plant here. Blooms are tall, red with green throat 35" tall scape with 2.87" well-branched floriferous scapes. Scott's 'Tiddles' (21), is a 30" yellow with a 2.75" red patterned eye and 'Boogie Woogie Bob' (21) boasts a 21" scape and 2.99" double blooms of light melon. It is registered at 99% double, and always blooms double here.

Robin Calderon registered a unique miniature, 'Mookiate' in 2016. It is dormant, blooms extra early, and the 2" bloom looks ever so tiny. It's a bi-tone, brick red petals with yellow sepals. Look for this one, it's well worth growing and unique.

Fred Manning from Lillian, Alabama, is hybridizing some excellent miniature and small daylilies. Some which are particularly happy here are 'Lillian's Violet Eyed Pixie' (19), a SEV 2.75" cream with a multi violet eye on 21" scapes and 'Lillian's Pretty and Prissy' (21) a SEV 24" cream with ruffled petals and a multi-colored eye. A lesser-known but worthy of mention mini is 'Buddy's Angel Baby' (J. Hall 06), a 2.75" purple diploid with a dark purple eye on a 26" scape.

Finally, I'll mention one that you may already be familiar with, a must have for anyone who wants to start a collection of miniatures. I first saw Kenny Begnaud's 'Lil' Black Buds' when he showed it to me in his Baton Rouge garden many years ago. For years, I hesitated to get it, because how would a Louisiana-bred daylily perform in a Virginia garden? But I kept seeing it grow well in gardens all over the country and finally acquired it just this year. These 2.5" blooms grown on well-branched 22" scapes; do indeed boast a multitude of little black buds. Additionally, 'Lil' Black Buds' is a multi- award winner. You should try it!

Some recent acquisitions I'm particularly anxious to see bloom next season are 'Just Jeanne' (T. Herrington 21), 'Munchkin Parade' (T. Herrington 21), and 'URAQT' (S. Elliott 21), and finally, 'Memories of Maude' (J. Kennedy 23) by Region 3 hybridizer, Janice Kennedy.

Lilyhemmer

Join Us at Lilyhemmer 2023!

By Nicole Jordan, Chairperson of the Lilyhemmer Planning Committee

Save the date October 20-22, 2023! You are invited to attend the 28th Lilyhemmer Daylily Festival in Camp Hill, PA.

Last year was one of our best Lilyhemmers. It was a success and many kudos were received. We had wonderful speakers, Joe Hudson from North Carolina, Kristen Hatfield from Ohio, Curtis Cerillo one of Region 3 new hybridizers, and Kathy Jentz our Fanfare editor were new. Margo Reed, one of our best Region 3 hybridizers, captivated us talking about her hybridizing program. She was asked many questions after her presentation.

We had a fantastic live auction thanks to the generous donations from our region members and those of hybridizers at large. Richard Howard from Connecticut gave one of his prize new introductions. Jamie Gosard, when asked by Richard Sterrett, generously gave 11 Spacecoast daylilies. David Kirchhoff and Mort Morss added extra daylilies to an order just for the auction. Our speakers also contributed by giving us several of their best daylilies.

The Silent Auction was comprised of the daylilies by our late friend and Region 3 hybridizer Don Herr. He was famous for his poly daylilies. It made more than any other silent auctions we had in the past. You won't be disappointed this year as you will find more of Don's daylilies to bid on. Thank you again to Cynthia Marriott who made several trips to Don's garden to collect many of his award-winning daylilies for the silent auction.

Peter Donato will again give us an overview of what is new and up-and-coming in the daylily world. It seems that white, speckled, and striped daylilies are in vogue at present.

After the business meeting, a great dinner on Saturday night was followed last year by the greatly anticipated live auction because of a special Richard Howard 2022 introduction. It was won by one of our Region 3 members who never put down his betting number. That was very exciting!!!

Lilyhemmer provides a wonderful time for all. Friday at 6pm everyone is invited to enjoy the hospitality in the Keystone D room. Snacks and drink are provided by the hotel. It's a great place for the new comers to meet the "regulars." Some of us have attended every Lilyhemmer. Registration packets and T-shirts can be picked up there. The room is full of activities. The silent auction, the live auction, the Saturday morning, and the Amish raffle are being set up that evening. Go take a peek.

On Saturday morning, Jim Murphy hosts the Chat Room from 9 to 11 am. New attendees are encouraged to go. It is very informal and you can get answers to all your daylily questions. You can purchase your lunch at 11 am in the lobby of the Conference Centre. Don't forget to get your tickets for the Saturday morning raffle. It starts at 10 am, the winners get their prize(s) on the spot. Hang on to your tickets. Later in the afternoon, all the "losing" tickets have another chance to win. By the way, if you have any kind of plants, garden items, garden books, flower pictures, etc. you like to give away, bring them to be included into the Saturday morning raffle. Gary Ball, Cynthia Marriott, and their helpers will gladly accept them.

Beth Creveling will be back selling her delightful hand crafted cards. The Deb and Barry Friedland will be back for a third year with their daylily decorated items. Eleanore Charles will bring her quilted throws and Kathy Jentz, our Fanfare editor, will sell her latest book Groundcover Revolution and also bringing The Urban Garden: 101 Ways to Grow Food and Beauty in the City that she co-authored with Teri Speight and sold last year at Lilyhemmer. Any or all of these are nice souvenirs or gifts to take home.

By popular demand, the Lilyhemmer T-shirts are back! But you must pre-order and pay for them with your registration. They are $15 each. The T-shirt logo art is shown on the next page. Please register early if you want to have one or to shirts ordered. The company needs the number of T-shirt's three weeks before Lilyhemmer.

Linda Herhold, our wonderful Mistress of Ceremonies, will promptly begin the program festivities at 12 noon on Saturday. Speakers include Richard Howard from Connecticut and Ellen Laprise also for New England and the 2022 Stout Medal recipient. She will tell us how she succeeded to get that elusive white daylily. Donald Wolff from Louisville, Kentucky, will speak on hybridizing doubles and unusual forms. More speaker details to come!

New attendees will each get a daylily compliments of Richard and Rikki Sterrett. Last year, their generous donation give us extra daylilies that Peter Donato quickly auctioned. Shayna Donato will sell the Amish Raffle tickets during the breaks. Look for her, she will be wearing the Amish Hat. All the daylilies in that raffle come from our guest hybridizers and Region 3 Hybridizers and are at least of $100 value.

Lilyhemmer will close with the drawing of the $500 Gift Certificate donated by Margo Reed and Jim Murphy of Woodhenge Gardens.

Lilyhemmer is 28 years old, but our committee keeps it relevant, interesting, and exciting. I want to see you there. Remember the date is October 20-22, 2023. The Lilyhemmer Committee and I welcome YOU! Be sure to register at <http://ahsregion3.org/> after July 1. Don't miss it!

National Convention Updates

Hopefully you're planning to go to this year's convention in Nashville. A number of fun activities, including some spectacular gardens are on the agenda for this year. Although the convention is officially sold out, there is a waiting list if you would still like to attend. Contact the registrar to be added to the list. Grand Ole Daylilies is June 14-17 in Nashville.

Exhibition and Garden Judges Training—Now Online!

AHS has made it easier to obtain and maintain Exhibition and Garden judges status with online clinics. These are now offered multiple times per year, and may be offered by special request if a club or group has enough people to justify a session. These Zoom sessions are easy to join and allow for the same interactive participation you'd have in a classroom setting. For more information about these sessions, contact our regional judges' liaisons - Kathleen Schloeder for Exhibitions and Kris Bender for Garden Judges.

ADS Display Gardens

Did you know the ADS Display Gardens Program now includes over 250 gardens across the US, Canada, and Europe? Thirty-two of those gardens are right here in Region 3, so finding one close to you is fairly easy. If you have travel plans in your future, the online search feature at <https://daylilies.org/daylilies/display-gardens> will show gardens within a specified geographic radius of a specific location and give up to date information about gardens.

Display gardens vary in size from small backyard gardens to large botanical gardens and arboretums. Some feature collections of historic daylilies, while others offer various themed beds such as Stout Medal winners, Lenington Award winners, Science Fiction, Wizard of Oz, Aliens, and many others depending on the gardeners' interests. While these gardens are open to the public, many of them are private gardens, meaning they may not be open every day. Appointments are always suggested to ensure the owner is available and the garden is open on the day you'd like to visit.

Maintaining a display garden is an extreme commitment of time, energy, and other resources. I encourage you visit as many of these gardens as possible show your appreciation to these dedicated gardeners who do so much to promote daylilies.

A complete list of Region 3 Display Gardens is included here. Full details about these gardens is available at <https://daylilies.org/daylilies/display-gardens>.

Margo and Jim are both hybridizers, as well as Garden and Exhibition Judges, with extensive gardening backgrounds. The garden was established in 2001. It covers several acres on a hilltop in North Garden, VA (south of Charlottesville, VA) surrounded by deer fencing. The AHS display garden features many registered introductions by Jim and Margo, by other Region 3 hybridizers, and by many hybridizers from other regions.

Both diploids and tetraploids will be on display, including Jim's collection of polyporous cultivars and a few doubles and small flowers. Most of the collection features Unusual Form and Spider daylilies, with a new emphasis on patterns. In addition, the seedling bed behind the house displays thousands of seedlings. You can see the newest, and the seedlings selected for possible future introduction.

The garden is only about 10 miles south of I-64. The display garden features fairly level mulched paths for easy access. The seedling bed is a little steeper and more challenging, but we can offer rides on Jim's gator. Come and see the future of unusual daylilies!

Fall/Winter - September 20

Submission Guidelines

All submissions are to be sent to the Region 3 Newsletter editor Kathy Jentz at kathyjentz@gmail.com. The newsletter editor reserves the right to edit all submissions for grammar, length, and format.

Articles and Reports

Articles and reports are to be submitted electronically via email attachment. Microsoft Word is the preferred word processing program and must be accompanied by the submitter's contact information. Photographs to be included with an article must be submitted as separate files. DO NOT EMBED PHOTOGRAPHS IN THE ARTICLE. A description of each photo and the photographer's name must be included. Previously published article submissions must be accompanied with the author's documented permission to republish the material in Fanfare.

Photographs

Electronic submission of photos is required (jpeg). Hard copy prints and slides will not be accepted. All photo submissions must be accompanied by a description, the photographer's name and photographer's contact information. Either written verification that a signed consent form is on file at the national level or a signed copy of the Photography Copyright Consent Form (Page 73 of the Regional Officers Handbook--http://www.daylilynnetwork.org/?AHS_Policies) is required.

IMPORTANT: Obtaining photographic release forms (for images of subjects under the age of 18) and providing copies when requested is the photographer's responsibility. Parental permission to publish the photograph must be obtained in writing before the picture is submitted to Fanfare.
